paint manufacture

Paints, our trade for nearly 100 years !

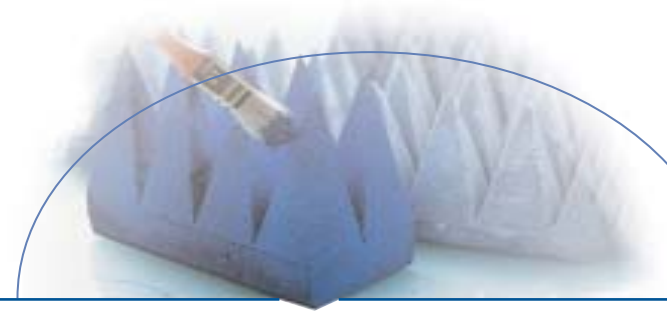

Since 1908, at KOLORIAN we have specialised in the adjustment and manufacturing of highly technical paints intended for demanding and diversified customers: the French Navy, the Fishing Industry, Sea faring Companies and shipyards preparing racing boats and the whole pleasure craft sector.

Our paints and varnish are constantly under weather and time trials to meet reliability and durability challenges and therefore gain the trust that honours our products efficiency and performance.

Such results are due to our listening capacity and our regular dialog with our customers to anticipate and adjust the evolution of our ranges.

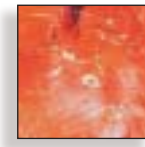

Technicality at the service of efficiency and development

In the research, innovation and optimisation of our paints we always make a point of strictly respecting the environment and complying with international standards. All the shades of our paints are prepared in accordance with AFNOR and RAL references. On a regular basis, our laboratory performs tests and measurements at all manufacturing stages, from the raw material to the finished product to provide total traceability and rigorous quality assurance.

The KOLORIAN company has actually obtained the ISO 9001 certification. This approval completes the quality approach recognised by the Direction Générale de l'Armement in 1985 (RAQ -2 certificate).

A manufacturing potential combining flexibility and reactivity

In particular we try and satisfy our customers' requirements by providing a flexible and reactive production tool and potential.

Because our trade is focused on manufacturing, we can take account of determining elements such as lists of specifications provided by some of our customers, delivery and packaging requirements or last-minute adjustments of orders.

Our specialised and skilled technicians will provide the best solution to specific requests.

All our paints are manufactured according to the tight flow concept; this principle of operation guarantees an optimum raw material and finished product stock turnover: the KOLORIAN paint and varnish life cycle is consequently maximised.
